

Onboarding and Offboarding Policy

Defines the standard process for employee onboarding, role transitions, and separation/exit.

Document No.	HR-POL-002	Version	3.0
Effective Date	01 April 2026	Policy Owner	Head of HR Operations
Applicability	All employees, HR, and hiring managers	Review Cycle	Annual

1. Purpose

This policy standardizes the onboarding experience for new joiners and the offboarding process for departing employees, ensuring compliance, knowledge continuity, and a consistent employee experience at both ends of the employment lifecycle.

2. Pre-Onboarding (Before Day 1)

- Offer letter and background verification consent must be completed at least 5 working days before joining.
- IT provisions laptop, email ID, and system access requests based on the role's access matrix.
- HR shares the Day 1 joining kit, including location details, dress code, and reporting manager contact.
- Buddy assignment: every new joiner is paired with a peer buddy from the same team, assigned by the manager.

3. Day 1 and Week 1 Onboarding

Day	Activity	Owner
Day 1	Welcome session, documentation collection, asset handover, HRMS profile setup	HR
Day 1	Introduction to team, org structure walkthrough	Reporting Manager
Day 2-3	Mandatory compliance training: POSH, Code of Conduct, Information Security	L&D;
Day 3-5	Role-specific tools and systems training	Reporting Manager / Buddy
Week 1 end	30-60-90 day goal setting session	Reporting Manager

4. Probation Period

All new employees serve a probation period of 6 months from date of joining, extendable by up to 3 months at the manager's discretion in cases where performance evaluation is inconclusive. A confirmation review is conducted at the end of the probation period, and confirmation is communicated formally through the HRMS. Employees not confirmed may have their probation extended once, or employment may be terminated with notice as per the employment contract.

5. Offboarding — Resignation Process

Employees resigning must submit a formal resignation through the HRMS. Standard notice period requirements by grade are summarized below; the notice period may be bought out (by either party) subject to mutual agreement and Finance approval.

Grade	Notice Period	Buyout Eligible
Associate (L1-L3)	30 days	Yes, up to 15 days
Manager (L4-L5)	60 days	Yes, up to 30 days
Senior Manager and above (L6+)	90 days	Case-by-case, requires CXO approval

5.1 Knowledge Transfer (KT)

The departing employee, in coordination with the reporting manager, must complete a documented knowledge transfer covering ongoing projects, key contacts, and system credentials handover, using the standard KT template available on the HR portal. KT completion is a mandatory checklist item for final clearance.

6. Exit Clearance Process

- IT clearance: return of laptop, ID card, and revocation of system access, effective end of last working day.
- Finance clearance: settlement of any outstanding advances, loans, or corporate card dues.
- Admin clearance: return of any physical assets (access cards, keys, company property).
- HR clearance: exit interview, full and final settlement calculation, relieving letter issuance.

Full and final settlement, including leave encashment and any pending reimbursements, is processed within 45 days of the last working day, subject to completion of all clearances above. The relieving letter and experience certificate are issued within 7 working days of settlement completion.

7. Exit Interviews

HR conducts a confidential exit interview with every departing employee, either in person or via a structured survey, to capture feedback on the employee experience, reason for leaving, and any concerns. Aggregated, anonymized themes are shared with leadership quarterly to inform retention initiatives; individual responses are not shared with the employee's direct manager.

8. Involuntary Separation

In cases of involuntary separation (performance-based termination, redundancy, or disciplinary termination), the process follows the same clearance checklist, but notice period and severance terms are governed by the Termination and Exit Policy (HR-POL-013) and applicable local labor law rather than the standard resignation notice table above.

9. Rehire Eligibility

Employees who resign in good standing, having served their full notice period and completed KT satisfactorily, are eligible for rehire consideration after a minimum gap of 6 months. Employees separated for disciplinary reasons are marked 'Not Eligible for Rehire' in the HRMS and require CHRO approval to override.
